The newest Locations features

MovieSite Locations

Do you need to represent a variety of locations in your area that are suitable for filming without spending too much time and money?

Do you need to present your location database in a way that is easy for the film and TV industry to use?

Do you need to make sure your database can be seen on every device?

Do you need to keep a record of what locations have been used for?

If so, then MovieSite Locations is for you!

1. Advanced Search Features

This enables you to find the exact location you would like to use, quickly!
Some, but not all, of these new search features include;

- Search by Postcode
- Search by Local Authority
- 'Created by' / 'date updated' / 'last updated by' entrant searches
- Search by representative email
- The style categories now have a different format, including, displaying the dates of the time period choices, to help make differentiation easier.

2. Locations address section

- The locations local authority, and county are now mandatory - so please remember this!
- You are able to add a locations' Facebook and Instagram pages to its record
- What3Words has also been added to the form, making it even easier to locate locations!

3. Locations categorisation section

This section has now become even easier! Simply begin typing, and the categories will begin to pop up based on what you are typing. You can also remove the categories selected via clicking 'Remove' - this means you could have no categories if you did not want them - although, we recommend at least 5, it gives your location a higher chance of being found and chosen!

4. Location Description

It is now possible for you to have descriptions that cannot be seen by the public! Introducing Private descriptions has given users the ability to add comments and descriptions of a location that only internal users can see - it is completely hidden from the public eye!

Of course, the public description is available too. Use this section to create location descriptions that make your location eye-catching! In the public description, you can now also include;

- Opening hours
- Parking info
- Parking nearby
- Three phase electricity availability
- Access restriction notices and noise issue notices
- Carbon footprint notes
